Anthem- Anticipation Guide

DIRECTIONS: Think critically about each statement. In the first column, use the different signs to indicate whether you agree, disagree, or are uncertain about each topic. Then explain your reasoning in the last column. Use the back if you need extra room. We will use these statements to discuss issues from the novel prior to reading.

Statement	Agree/Disagree (+) (-) (-?)	Explain
You should do what you are told.
It's better to conform than to be different.
We exist to serve society, not our individual interests.
Some knowledge is too dangerous to be revealed to society and should be kept secret.
When we believe something strongly, we should stand up for our belief no matter what the cost.
An individual person's feelings, choices, and needs are more important than everyone else's.
It is bad to like some people more than others.
Being an individual is not as important as being a good member of society.
If an individual does not believe that the laws of society are ethical or moral, then they have the right to defy (ignore or break) the laws.
Some emotions should not be allowed to be felt or expressed.
A perfect world is one a world in which everyone cooperates.
